

Start small. Add data when it changes a decision

A staged pilot reduces burden while making the value of each dataset visible.

Farm data remain the basis for local validation—not a one-time input to a generic model.